combines true nerve tonic and strengthening qualities, reviving the energies and spirits.

It has been tried for some years with a complication of difficulties. After trying various remedies, and not finding relief, I tried Paine's Celery Compound. Before taking one full bottle the long troublesome symptoms began to subside, and I can truly say now, that I feel like a new man. My digestion has improved, and I have gained ten pounds in weight since I have commenced taking the Compound.

[Correspondence of the ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.]

The weather has been of such an inclement character, either in cold waves or rain and mud during the winter, especially upon evenings designated for monthly gatherings of our Farmers' Club, that but few of the innumerable attendees to keep the meetings up to more favorable occasions. On the evening of the 14th the elements were so favorably adjusted, that a large number congregated at the home of President J. T. Haring, stocked with abundant good humor. In the club proceedings, the subject of "How to make the farm pay best," was resumed, and elicited spirited remarks from Messrs. Geo. Auld, J. T. Haring, A. Martin, T. Abrams, G. K. Pickett, and others. Although diversity of opinion was manifest, yet the summa bonum sentiment acquiesced in, was to do what was undertaken thoroughly, aiming for the best possible results. Mr. Thomas Broadus was elected to membership, and cordially invited the members to rally at his little unique plantation in broad view of the Potomac, assuring them of hospitality equal to his artistic designs. "How to make poultry more profitable," was selected for discussion of knowledge, at the next meeting to be held at the home of George Auld, Thursday evening, March 14th. As it will be the first meeting of the club, under the incoming national administration, it is not expected that Benjamin or Life will be present, but our old friend George will be at home all the same to welcome whomsoever may cross the run, with his usual rural felicity. Those not present will be left in avowedly disengaged by heartfelt laughter.

Upon adjournment the two branches of the house in affinity—club and mite society—united. Fine musical renditions by the Misses Pickett, recitations by the Misses Martin, playful amusements by the young people, including Broadus and X, and the absorbing interest in valentines to quizzical the feelings of the drawers, mirthfully rendered the evening a season of pleasing, social enjoyment, and the midnight hour was drawing nigh when "good night" was said and all departed happily divers ways homeward.

The spell of thieving and lawlessness that has run loose in this latitude recently seems to have quieted down in a measure, as one of the culprits is under the care of Sheriff Gordon, whose galaxy of hard-cased culprits seems to increase for extinction of their liberty and longevity.

In the course of human events "translocation of heart" are as perceptible in the rural precinct as elsewhere, and an affair under consideration may be stereotyped for observation by the unsophisticated. "The hero has eyes of that green black which is noticeable in dyscolic coal, while the heroine has a skin which is eburean in its charity and her eyes are of isorene." Danger signals are not up yet, and an oculist may be beneficial.

An individual, apparently of the tribe of walkinphast, was seen recently striding down the pike with an ancient straw hat on his caput. At first it was surmised that he might be a picket thrown out by an advance column of fourth of March antiquies, but the conclusion was that by his gait he was hastening to Alexandria to spoil a chill with spirit trumet, and forgot to change his hat.

We are pleased to note that the community duly appreciate the efforts of our popular and enterprising miller, W. H. Winston, in meeting their requirements in the milling line.

Lincolnia, Feb. 18.

Letter from Fauquier.

[Correspondence of the ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.]

MARSHALL, Feb. 18, 1889.—Quite a change has come over us here. The mountains are white with snow and sleet; during the past week a small quantity of ice was housed; the longer days and warm suns will diminish the chances to get the usual supply. While the physicians have no serious diseases to treat there is some sickness in our midst. The families of Dr. Frost and Mr. J. H. Foster have suffered from influenza. The convenience of the telephone allows the prompt aid of a consulting physician and in this way Drs. Hicks and Sowers, of Warrenton, and Settle, of Paris, may now and then be seen in our midst, and messages exchanged in a few minutes as lately occurred when Mrs. Woodward, a most interesting lady became seriously ill.

We say all praise is due to Professor R. M. Smith to urge a settlement of the State debt. Already the neglect of doing this has set back the prosperity of Virginia a quarter of a century and to the outside world has given people a poor opinion of the integrity of her citizens.

Merchants in Marshall have this year announced to customers a new schedule: viz, the shortest credit, and then settlement.

Our schools continue to prosper. Through the courtesy of Robert A. Bright, esq., of Williamsburg, and Secretary of the Alumni Association of William and Mary College, we have received the announcement of this historic institution. The faculty consists of six professors, among whom are Lyon G. Tyler, A. M. University of Virginia; J. Leslie Hall, late Fellow of Johns Hopkins University, and Hugh S. Bird, of Nashville Normal College, with others of distinguished merit and who will doubtless contribute to revive the prestige of this, the oldest college in the country. In Fauquier county the writer knows of only two of her alumni, Bishop Randolph and A. S. Furcron.
